foreword

I forge ahead, nor can the opposing rush, That sways all else, my onward progress check, But bears me on against a whirling world. (Nitor in adversum, nec me, qui caetera, vincit impetus, et rapido contrarius evehor orbi.)

Ovid, Metamorphoses. Bk. ii, 1.72

Progress is a distinctive mark of man. No one is as complete as he would like to be, so he strives forward out of desire to be wholly complete.

The youth of Salina High strive to improve themselves and the world around them. As they strain toward the future, they try to solve the questions of the present. The answers do not come easily or quickly, but they will come eventually, bit by bit until . . . exposed, they reveal still more questions.

We, the 1965 TRAIL staff, salute the inquiring minds of our contemporaries and send them off to answer the riddles left by past generations.

To Owen E. Hodgson, a man of intelligence, a person of understanding and experience, a leader in progressive ways, the yearbook staff dedicates the 1965 TRAIL.

Mr. Hodgson has been principal of Salina High School for 37 years. Under his capable leadership the school has advanced greatly. Extracurricular activities were started before and after school by Mr. Hodgson, and organized to the fullest extent. Specific times have been established for the many different clubs such as career or subject interest clubs. Hi-Y and Y-Teens have remained in their bi-weekly schedule, thanks to Mr. Hodgson, instead of being held outside of school. These are only two of the many accomplishments Mr. Hodgson has done for the betterment of our school.

Proudly, the 1965 TRAIL Staff salutes the man who has given of himself for the advancement of Salina High School.

modern school always changing and improving

Built in 1952 and constantly improving since, Salina High is a prominent example of a modern high school. In addition to the major addition in 1960, the school has experienced many smaller changes, a large number of which are a result of the school beautification program proposed last year. Headed by the Student Council, the students changed a bare outside court into a delightful garden, obtained prints of famous artists and hung them in the halls, put student works into the art gallery, a Mustang, symbol of SHS, was laid in tile in the concourse floor and a bronze Mustang is seriously being considered.

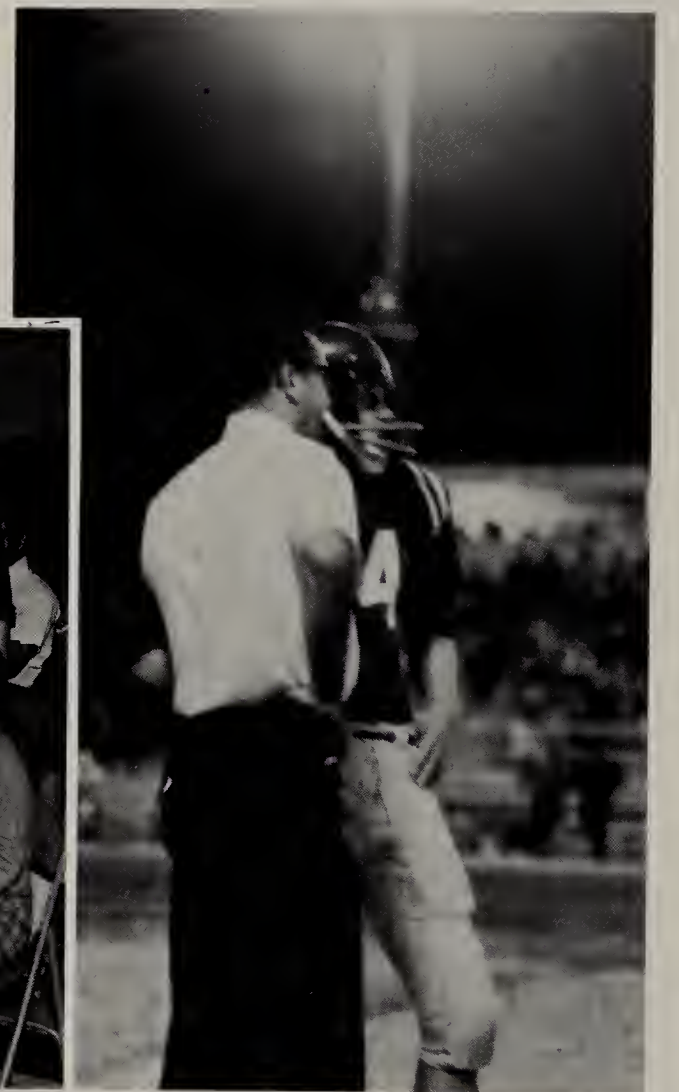

The farmer sowing wheat is representative of our Kansas heritage. From such simple beginnings our community has progressed.

superintendent copes with expanding system

Dr. W. M. Ostenberg has served Salina as Superintendent of Schools for the past fifteen years.

As chief coordinator and planner, he has seen the enrollment increase by leaps and bounds. The increasing need for classrooms and teachers has been a constant concern. Through skill, determination and foresight, he has managed to keep Salina schools one step ahead of the overcrowded and understaffed school.

Dr. Ostenberg is also a well-known orator. He has been a representative of Salina and the Salina school system in many parts of the country.

He is active in civic affairs and has been president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. Ostenberg is a graduate with a B.A. degree and an honorary doctor's degree from Bethany College. He also holds an M.A. degree from Colorado State College.

Dr. M. Scott Norton
Assistant Superintendent

assistant superintendent serves school system

As the Assistant Superintendent in Charge of Instruction, Dr. M. Scott Norton serves our school system in countless ways.

He has many responsibilities including the direction of the activities and development of all grades from kindergarten to the twelfth grade. He is also responsible for the placement of teachers.

He is the coordinator of the guidance program and is responsible for reporting the pupil's progress to the parents.

Dr. Norton graduated from Nebraska University and holds a B.S., M.A., and Ed.D. in Education.

Owen E. Hodgson Principal

competent principal is also community leader

Owen E. Hodgson marked his thirty-seventh anniversary as the principal of Salina High School this year.

He has capably assumed his many duties which have greatly increased over the years. Each day he must make many decisions as to policy making, faculty committees, and organization approvals.

Mr. Hodgson is a community leader as well as a school leader. He is active in church, civic, and fraternal organizations.

He has held offices in the Lions International, Kansas State Teacher's Association, Chamber of Commerce, YMCA, and the Masonry, including the honor of being Grand Master of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Kansas this year. In 1960, he was selected as the Kansas Master Teacher.

He received his B.S. and his M.A. from Kansas State College. He attended Kansas University law school and was admitted to the Bar in 1935.

Arnold J. Lehmann
Assistant Principal

assistant principal has vital position in school

The close of the 1964-65 school year completes Arnold Lehmann's second year as assistant principal. Formerly a German teacher, he has been with the Salina school system for eighteen years.

He plays a vital part in the management of Salina High School. Attendance reporting, discipline, supervision of the assembly seating, and the cafeteria schedule are just a few of his everyday tasks. He has helped greatly with the rising problems of our increasing school system and the outstanding quality of education offered.

He received his Master of Education degree from Wyoming University and has done graduate work at Delaware and Stanford Universities. He has also studied in Germany.

Dean Oberhelman

educational coordinator helps plan curriculum

A person frequently seen at Salina High School is Dean Oberhelman. Mr. Oberhelman serves as Coordinator of Secondary Education.

He works with various subject matter in the development of new courses of study such as the Individual Studies class introduced to Salina High students this year. He also works with various school departments in the evaluation and planning of textbooks and materials and in the development of curriculum guides.

Mr. Oberhelman has a B.S. degree from Kansas State University and a M.A. degree from Colorado State University.

school nurse conducts examinations and tests

Carrying the responsibility of school nurse is Margaretha Entz who is completing her sixth year in charge of health services at Salina High School. She conducts special examinations and tests for the students, such as hearing and eye tests.

She is a Registered Nurse through Battle Creek School of Nursing, University of Michigan, and received her B.S. degree from Kansas Wesleyan University.

Margaretha Entz

counselors aid students in learning about self

Salina High students make frequent use of the services of the Guidance Department every year. Mrs. Margaret Crowther, William Smith, Mrs. Wanda Hudson and Arthur Miller assist the students in learning more about themselves in relation to the world about them.

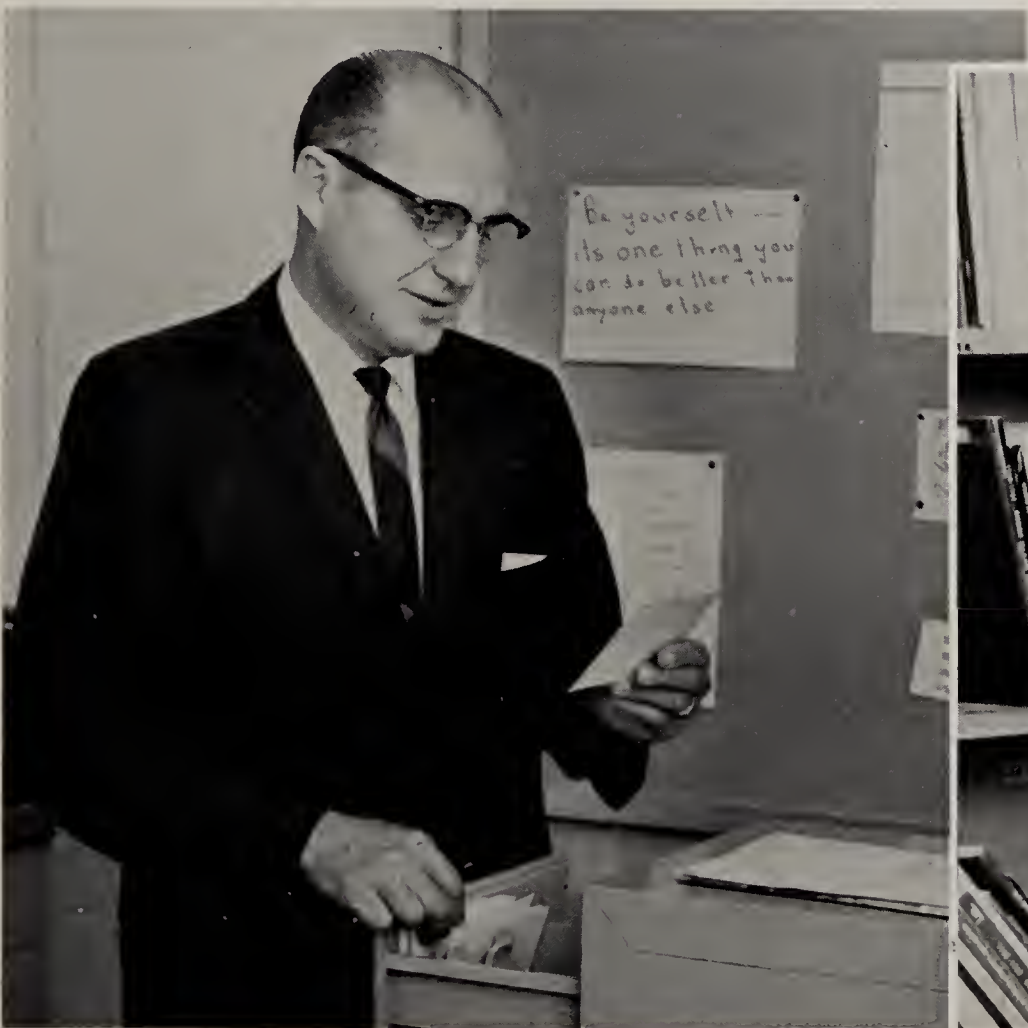

Mr. Miller is the head of the Guidance Department and also coordinator of guidance for all Salina public schools.

Mrs. Crowther has been with the Class of 1965 since they were sophomores. Mr. Smith is the junior counselor and Mrs. Hudson is the counselor for the sophomores.

All four counselors hold their B.S. and M.A. degrees.

aim is competence in use of native language

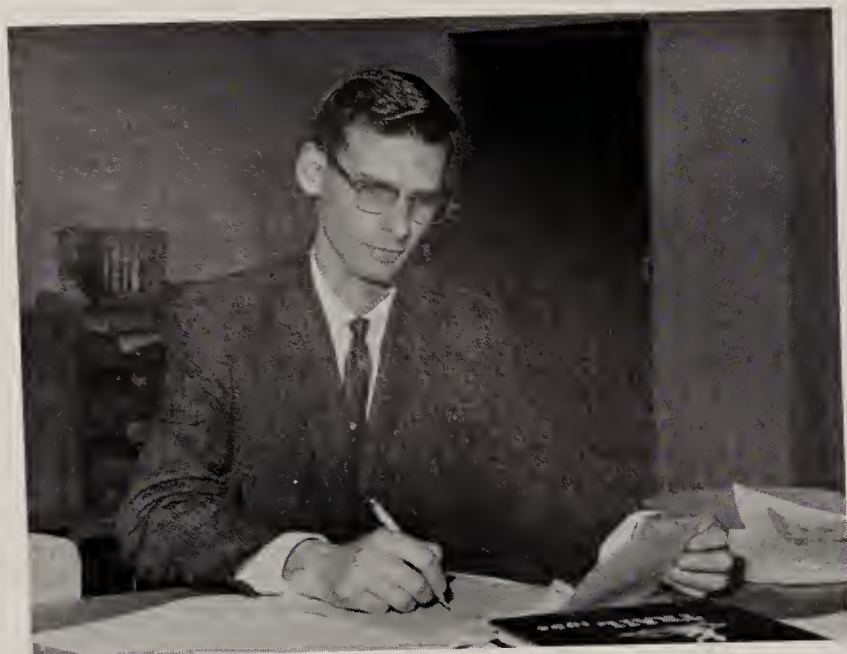

The English Department tried to give the students understanding and competence in their native language since this is basic to all social and business communication and to self-development.

The prime objective was the development of skills—critical, appreciative, and efficient reading; competent writing; effective speaking; purposeful listening; and critical thinking.

This year the English teachers revised the curriculum and put out printed booklets on each grade level.

The wide choice of subjects available in the English language arts are Regular and College English, humanities, speech, forensics, debate, journalism and TRAIL.

program's progression being studied, updated

"Mathematics, like the Nile, begins in minuteness, but ends in magnificence." C. C. Cotton.

The truth of this statement can readily be seen in the progression of the Salina High Math Department, beginning with algebra and ending with calculus. Also included are plane and solid geometry, applied math, senior math, and trigonometry.

The instructional program in mathematics was designed to make each student mathematically literate. The program is presently being reviewed for updating to insure that the basic ideas associated with the foundations of mathematics remained compatible with new developments in mathematics and the associated sciences.

emphasis on current, future use of science

The aim of the Salina High School Science Department is to promote an awareness of science and its activities through critical and analytical thinking. The philosophical emphasis is on true understanding of certain basic principles and their application to living and natural phenomena.

The science courses offered, enriched the students by giving them an understanding of the importance of science in current and future activities. It is through understanding and critical thinking that man is able to truly know his environment.

The courses offered were biology, lab science earth science, physiology, physics and chemistry.

citizens of tomorrow prepare for challenges

Teaching the youth of SHS to understand and appreciate their great heritage was one of the basic aims of the Social Science Department. Students were expected to accept the challenge of their democratic responsibility to continue the preservation of freedom. Social studies skills and the cultivation of proper attitudes were stressed. An alert, informed, capable citizen was the result hoped for. This result was attained through the many social science courses available. The various history courses offered provided necessary background and understanding. Problems of Government acquainted the student with the mechanics of government and our economic system. Psychology and sociology helped students to better understand people so they might live peaceably with others. All of these courses helped to fashion the citizenry of tomorrow.

program stresses need of keeping physically fit

The Physical Education Department of Salina High School stressed the need of today's youth to become and keep physically fit.

This department offered a wide program of exercises and group sports. For the boys there were such sports as football, track, and wrestling. Girls participated in field hockey and fencing. For both boys and girls there were basketball, tennis, volleyball, baseball, gymnastics, bowling, and many other sports.

The curriculum was expanded this year to include a health class. Cecilia Muff, Jim Pitts, and Fred Reed were added to the department's faculty.

home economics

department expanding as girls plan for future

The Home Economics Department greatly expanded as more girls planned for their own future homes.

The Clothing I and II classes gave a broad understanding of the many complicated operations of a seamstress. These two classes taught most of the fundamental and basic patterns. Clothing III was more complicated, as the girls were taught how to cover shoes, make hats, tailor garments and design their own patterns. A girl enrolled in Foods I and II learned the art of preparing and serving meals. Home Living enabled the girls to become aware of marriage, money management, child care, and the development of a home.

With the aid of these classes, homemakers were provided with an understanding of future expectations and are on the road to becoming adults.

department emphasizes necessity for craftsmen

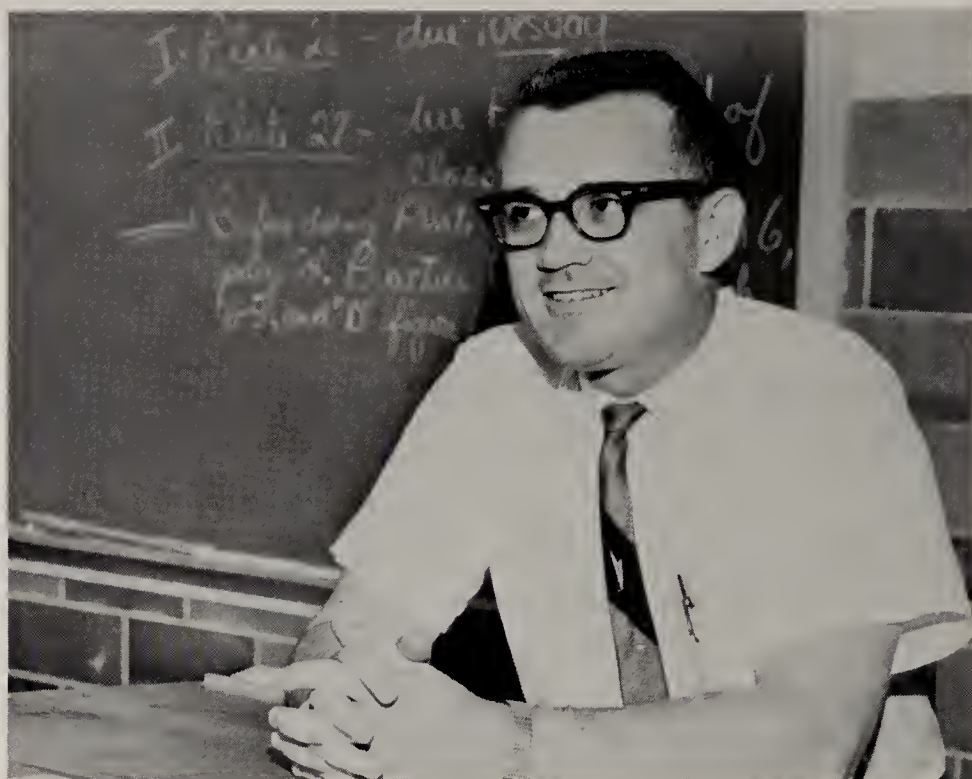

"There is no trade or employment but the young man following it may become a hero." Walt Whitman.

The Industrial Arts Department emphasized that in this time when higher education is stressed there is still a great need for skilled craftsmen.

Besides drafting, carpentry, machines, auto mechanics, and printing, agriculture, electronics, and drivers education were also offered in the vocational education department of Salina High School.

Boys enrolled in many of these courses were able to serve apprenticeships at various Salina businesses.

The department provided many services to the school. For example, the print shop published all the printed material at SHS and the junior highs, including their newspapers. In addition, the wood-working classes made lockers for the new stadium.

language pupils cross communications barrier

In an age when time and distance have been conquered by jets and Telestar, the people of other nations are but a step away. An opportunity to step across the language barrier is available to SHS students. They may take first, second, and third year courses in German, French, Russian, Spanish, and Latin.

Emphasis is now on speaking a language rather than just being able to read it well. Through the facilities of the language laboratory, students heard tapes made by a native speaker to enable them to get a correct accent. The laboratory was also an excellent place for individual improvement because teachers may tune in students as they respond to the tapes and correct them without interrupting the rest of the class.

The Fine Arts Department consisted of vocal and instrumental music, art, and dramatics.

The music department provided entertainment for SHS students at assemblies and other school activities. They represented Salina High at music festivals and public performances.

Decorating the school for holidays, the gym for the Junior-Senior Prom, and the Sophomore party were some of the functions of the art department.

The dramatics department was responsible for producing the various productions during the year.

These departments combined their efforts to produce the musical.

department of business adds facilities, teacher

Adding another room and a teacher, the Business Department of Salina High increased the training available to students who wished to enter the business field immediately after graduation.

Due to an increased enrollment in typing, another typing room, equipped with 40 typewriters, was added along with other needed equipment.

The Business Department was in the midst of a curriculum study to determine "where do we go from here?" Several committees completed their work and advanced study groups were to make further reports.

Courses in personal finance, bookkeeping, shorthand, stenography, typing, office practice, and business law were offered.

One of the busiest staffs in the school is the clerical staff. Their many jobs keep Salina High School running smoothly and efficiently.

Each girl gracefully stepped into her 1965 convertible for the evening and as the band played "Hello My Baby" the cars circled the field. Student Council President Charlie Browne announced the attendants and then crowned and gave the royal Homecoming kiss to Queen Mary Ellen Evans. With a few tears and a big smile she ascended the throne accompanied by her escort, Jim Peterson. After the game, they spent the rest of the evening at the Cherokee Homecoming Dance held at Memorial Hall. senior play entertains record-breaking crowd

An upsurge of Communism and the purported suicide of a high government official in Czechoslovakia set the scene for the 1965 senior play.

The Great Sebastians is a melodramatic comedy about the adventures of a vaudeville mind-reading act. Marita Miller and Kenny Long portrayed Essie and Rudi Sebastian whose bookings carried them to Prague, Czechoslovakia, in late 1948.

After their closing performance at the Theater Variete they were invited to the home of General Zandek for a command performance. The general was unsure of the loyalty of some of his compatriots and hoped to use the mind-reading powers of the Sebastians to discover the truth.

A sudden interruption at the General's party destroyed all hope for the Sebastian's departure from the country. A clever plan on the part of the two led the audience through many moments of delight.

"For heaven's sake!" shriek Sophie and Marie, "the same dress!"

The startling entrance of Comrade Bacilek reveals the "suicide" of Jan Masaryk. The Sebastians are aghast at the death of their friend then rudely dismissed by the 'Commies. Each face mirrors the terror the Communists have instilled.

Taking the last bow and enjoying every moment of it, the entire cast of The Great Sebastians reflect upon the success that they have brought to the class of '65. Long hours and hard work were contributed by everyone connected.

"Absolutely no more money," screams Essie to Manya, representative of the Cultural Action Committee.

my fair lady

Eliza Doolittle's first day out and she manages to captivate all. Hurriedly, she is led out by Pickering before she reveals her astonishing background.

flower girl emerges as high society's 'fair lady'

Amidst the tutoring of Professor Higgins and the English society, Eliza Doolittle's ascent to fame forms the plot of the 1965 musical, "My Fair Lady". Three continuous performances were given on November 19, 20, and 21.

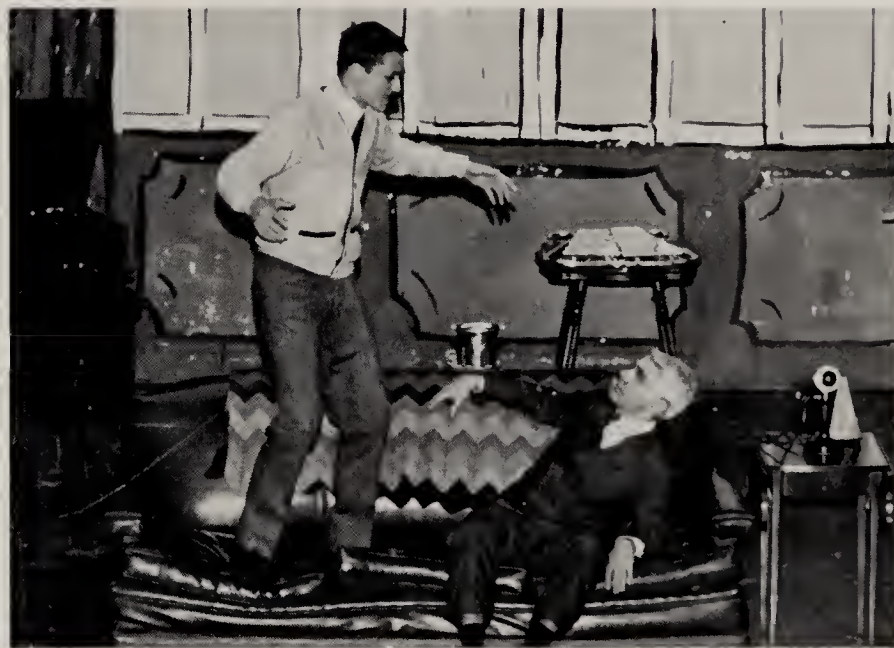

Enormous amounts of planning and preparation on the parts of the cast and crews contributed to the success of the play.

Mary Seusy, as Eliza and Milt Van Gundy, as Professor Higgins led the audience through many moments of delight. Her naive manner and lack of education provided for hilarious scenes with her professor and his friends.

"My Fair Lady" was the first musical that Salina High's new dramatics coach, Eldon Evans, had ever directed. In spite of this fact, the play drew the third largest crowd in Salina High's musical history.

"Get me to the church on time 'cause I'm getting married in the mornin'," croons Alfred P. Doolittle.

"The rain in Spain stays mainly on the plain." Hours of teaching are beginning to get to poor Higgins.

Kicking up a storm, the boys of the bowery amuse their rowdy companions.

Freddie's love for Eliza is tenderly revealed "on the street where she lives."

Various moods were set by the Salina High School orchestra, led by instrumental instructor, Cleo Rucker. Extreme patience with their nightly vigil made them an important part of the play's success. Practicing separately, the orchestra and cast were finally joined during dress rehearsal week.

"By George, she's got it!" A triumphant moment for Eliza after hours of practice.

"If they can get along without you, Ducky, so can I!" screams Eliza to an enraged Higgins.

Gracefully bobbing and dipping, the dancers at the Ball show off the elaborate scenery, complete with running fountain. Chatting and amusing themselves, the guests pass the evening in frivolity. Each seems to be having a good time especially Eliza.

drama plus suspense make interesting play

Salina High was the scene of a sensational murder trial on March 12 and 13. "The Night of January 16th" was the suspenseful play presented by the junior class.

This comedy-drama in three acts was unique in many aspects. For instance, the jury was chosen from the audience. Another different aspect was the summoning of witnesses who were stationed at different places in the audience.

Karen Andre, secretary to the late financial wizard, Bjorn Faulkner, was charged with her employer's death. Throughout the trial, each attorney desperately tried to convince the jury of Karen's innocence or guilt. Interesting witnesses such as a terpsichorean dancer, a cynical gangster, and a self-righteous Swedish maid kept the audience on the edge of their seats.

"I don't believe you! I won't believe you! He's alive! He's waiting for me!" sobbed Karen Andre.

"And what were YOU doing on the night of January 16th?"

With the judgment passed by the impromptu jury, the cast takes a pause to reflect their pride in a job well done.

The questioning of a surly Mrs. Lefty O'Toole piles more evidence against the attorney for the defense. Flint and Stevens vie to win a battle that only the jury picked from the audience can decide. Each one tries his best but only one can win.

unselfish action enables crippled child to walk

"Amahl and the Night Visitors" is an opera which has been presented by Salina High School for the past seven years.

The opera is about a small crippled boy who lives with his widowed mother. They are visited by three kings who are on their way to see the Christ Child. When he offers his crutch for the three kings to take as his gift to the Child he is suddenly able to walk.

He pleads with his mother for permission to take the crutch himself. His mother consents and he travels with the kings to make his presentation to the Holy Infant.

Amahl was portrayed by Paul Ryberg Jr. Mary Seusy played the mother. Milt Van Gundy, Bruce Carr and Jim Oegerle were the three kings and Phil Kraft was the page.

Eldon Evans directed the acting, Paul Ryberg the singing, and Cleo Rucker the orchestra.

reigning "sweethearts" dance to cupid's music

Filigree hearts decorated the dimly lighted gymnasium at the annual Hi-Y—Y-Teens Sweetheart Dance, February 15, 1965.

McPherson High School stage band lulled students through a delightful evening with both old and new tunes. The Trouveres, consisting of Carlisle Bergquist, Larry Heck, Bruce Carr, and Milt Van Gundy, filled the intermission with fun and song.

Pop, doughnuts, and cookies were offered at the refreshment stand. Couples often set these aside, however, to have their pictures taken by the Photography Club.

Sweetheart king and queen, Steve Wentz and Teresa Egan, received their crowns from Bruce Hocking and Claudia Garrett, presidents of Hi-Y and Y-Teens, respectively. Attendants were Sherry Knight, Judy Etherington, Frank Tighe, and Milt Van Gundy.

Teresa Egan and Steve Wentz beam under cupid's heart after being crowned St. Valentine's Day royalty.

Final votes were placed on the night of the dance. Results were not revealed until the intermission.

With his usual cheerfulness, StuCo President Charlie Browne enters the little theater to begin another early Tuesday morning meeting.

stuco develops spirit, ideals, good citizenship

Student Council provides unity and cooperation among the students and faculty in classroom and extracurricular activities. It helps develop spirit, ideals, and practices of good citizenship.

Leading the student body through another active year was President Charlie Browne. He conducted the school's assemblies.

Beautifying the school as a major project was continued from last year. Class elections, a book fair, and helping a needy family for Christmas were all part of the program. StuCo also played an active part in making Homecoming a night to remember.

Marjorie Codd, from South Africa, spent a year mixing with SHS students under sponsorship of both Student Council and the American Field Service. Betty Hatton was sent to Germany where she spent the summer as an A.F.S., StuCo student.

Sponsors of StuCo were R. L. Goering, Les Neywick, Sally Swift, Leanna Pearce, and Victor Klotz.

christian organization gives valuable service

Hi-Y, the boys' Christian organization, provided programs, both religious and educational. At a joint Hi-Y and Y-Teens meeting Jesse Owens, world renown athlete, spoke on the importance of youth in the future of our country.

Members found revenue in selling basketball and football pencils. The club also sponsored delegates to Boys' State and Model Legislature. The pre-Lenten assembly was the main program in the spring.

y-teens serve school, community in good will

Y-Teens served the school and community in many ways throughout the school year. During football season the girls sold popcorn, besides selling mums at Homecoming. In addition to adopting a needy family at Christmas time, Y-Teens made nut-cups and gave them to a nursing home.

Planning for the annual Sweetheart Dance in February was done by both Hi-Y and Y-Teens. At the last meeting the senior girls were presented with corsages.

staff coordinates efforts to produce 1965 annual "Meet those deadlines" was a phrase familiar to all yearbook staff members. Planning a theme for the book, making page lay-outs, writing copy, taking pictures, selling advertisements, and keeping a budget were all part of producing the 1965 Trail.

Kathy McLeod, editor, coordinated all these activities to form a finished yearbook. Earnest McNickle, advisor, guided the staff in making decisions.

"Ooooh, that's neat!" sighs Kathy McLeod, editor, as Fay Riley, assistant editor, and Larry Berg, business manager, look at the KU Jayhawker for ideas.

newspaper staff serves school and community

Alertness was the key word for members of the Salina High News staff. In order to make the News a successful venture, the staff spent countless hours studying newspaper methods, finding news, writing and rewriting stories, and scurrying to make last minute changes. Besides the usual news stories, feature stories gave the journalism students an opportunity to try creative writing.

The Salina High News strived to serve and inform the student, school, and community.

Business manager, Jinna Rittenhouse; Editor, Linda Ketron; Assistant-editor, Betina Beggs pool resources to come up with some ideas.

honor society hustles through another year

Quill and Scroll is a National honor society for high school journalists. This was the third active year for the Salina High Chapter.

Initiation included the formal ceremony, a speech delivered by Whitley Austin, and a visit with parents over punch. Mr. McNickle, sponsor, displayed the student's work.

A few members traveled to Chicago over the Thanksgiving vacation to take part in an NSPA sponsored journalism convention.

future teachers receive training for vocations

Future Teachers Club sought to enable its members to study and identify the qualities and aptitudes basic to successful teaching. To explore the teaching profession, secure information of the opportunities and to participate in prevocational activities were a few of the aims of FTA.

For members to achieve points this year, they were involved with such activities as KSTA meeting, KSTA Art Exhibit, Senior Visitation to elementary schools, Apple-for-the-Teacher Day, and aiding teachers in other possible ways. Speakers at meetings included Dr. Arthur Zook, and Professor Albert Nelson. Sponsors for the club were Virginia Weisgerber, Leslie Neywick, Arnold Lehmann, Willis Lobdell and Marlene Loyd.

art club concentrates on school beautification

Progress was the theme of SHS's Art Club this year. Beautifying the school and developing a knowledge of art were concentrated on. New drapes for the exit doors in the auditorium were furnished. Trips in November to Lindsborg art centers and in the spring to the Nelson Art Gallery, contributed to new concepts of art.

Fred Schmidt and Mary Leake sponsored the activities.

energy and enthusiasm embodied by boys' club

Combining energy and enthusiasm, the Mustang Men began their first year as Salina High's boys' pep club. The boys attended and took part in the activities of the organization as SHS'ers witnessed their progress and the outcome of their ventures. Seated beside the girls' Pep Club at the home games, the members supported and participated in the school spirit for the sports activities. Sponsors were Kaye Pearce, Gary Melander, David Ford, Leslie Toburen, and Fred Schrick.

lettermen learn value of good sportsmanship

Letterman's Club is constituted of Salina High's outstanding young athletes and is designed to be of assistance to the school wherever and whenever possible. At home games members sold programs as a money making project.

Through this club, members learned more than the average person, the true necessity of teamwork and good sportsmanship. Sponsors for the club were Kaye Pearce and Ivan Davis.

roof-raising pep club initiates jumper uniform

Raising the rafters on the roof was not an uncommon task for Pep Club with over 350 members. The class yell was a favorite cheer.

Alice Sanders as president initiated new uniforms that became mandatory for sophomores. Maroon A-line jumpers with white long-sleeved blouses filled the halls to indicate a game was drawing near.

Aiding Alice in giving pep assemblies were: Gwen Revels, Marsha Garrett, Vicki Hamende; Joan Lorson, Betty Fuller and Jean Waltersheid, sponsors.

Debate coach, Paul Harper commented, "The main purpose of debating is to learn the art of looking at a subject from both sides."

"Come on, Mike," teases Denise Rupe and Dudley Bush, "advanced debaters don't refer to their notes," as Mike Stano scans the page.

vocal students display varied musical talents

Madrigal Chorale, the top vocal class at Salina High, is composed of all seniors who must pass certain singing qualifications to be admitted to the class. As the most advanced class, the Chorale performed for public events, private organizations, and school assemblies.

The Madrigal consisted of fifteen students of the Madrigal Chorale and Melotones and outstanding singers who were not taking singing this year but had taken it previously. This leading ensemble performs for many outside school activities. They were dressed in the traditional costumes depicting the madrigals in medieval times. Another group which sang for out-of-school activities was the Girls Ensemble.

The newly established performance club consisted of students who pooled their singing resources to produce musical productions such as "My Fair Lady", "Amahl and the Night Visitors," "H.M.S. Pinafore," and the Spring Concert.

music classes contain several select groups

Within Madrigal class there were several smaller ensembles which sang for various activities. The Boys' Quartet, The Trouveres; and the Girls' Quartet were included in these ensembles.

Sixth hour found the Melotones practicing hard for their public performances. This junior class is also a select group. The ability to sing and read music and the attitudes of the student are the basis for the selection of the singers.

Chansonettes, an all girl's chorus, was made up of sophomores, juniors, and seniors. Members of this class may have found this good experience for entering the Madrigal Chorale.

For the first time at SHS there were seven hours of vocal music classes. The largest class in this department was the Girls' Glee Club, composed mainly of sophomores. Tracy Dilling, instructor at North Junior High, directed the girls.

The Harmonaires, the mixed chorus, proved to be a successful performance group this year. This group was composed of sophomores who planned to continue their singing career. Sixty boys made up the third hour Boys' Glee Club.

band receives I rating at fall marching festival

A busy year was spent by the members of the Mustang Marching and Concert Bands. Besides marching at the five home football games and the many civic parades, the highlight of the marching season took place during the marching festival at Wichita State University where the band received a I rating for their marching and playing performance. During the concert season, the annual Winter and Spring Concerts were given.

In addition to the Marching and Concert Band is the Sophomore band which serves as a proving ground for future members of the Mustang Band. They performed at home football games, marched in many parades and provided music for the home wrestling matches, plus performing at the concerts.

orchestra students gain from musical activities

Musical experiences ranging from musical comedy to classical concerts have been enjoyed by members of Salina High's Orchestra. Their performance schedule included "My Fair Lady," the annual musical, "Amahl and the Night Visitors," the Christmas program, and the Winter and Spring Concerts. The CKL Orchestra clinic at Manhattan gave members a chance to meet with instrumentalists from other schools. The Lindsborg Invitational Orchestra Festival proved to be a rewarding experience also.

Members of the orchestra make up many smaller ensembles that provided music for many school and civic activities. The percussion ensemble, formed from band members, was a group which also presented their talent for recitals and concerts.

groups provide school with musical programs

Music was an important part in the lives of many SHS students in the 1964-65 school year. Learning about a particular instrument came from many things.

Salina High's stage band, the Symphonettes, presented many fine programs featuring music of the popular and jazz field. Many of the members also performed solos and were members of ensembles that entered the district and state music festivals.

The Mustang Pep Band could always be found where there was a home athletic event. This group of select students practiced before and after school in order to provide music for the crowds.

The twirlers and drum major spent many hours working up routines with the band for football performances. When the band arose early in the morning to practice, the twirlers were close behind them.

The Clarinet Choir played different types of music for recitals and concerts also.

'stangs hurdle objects to share football crown

Salina High's football team, although riddled with injuries, came within seven points of an undefeated season. The Mustangs fought to an eight win and one loss record.

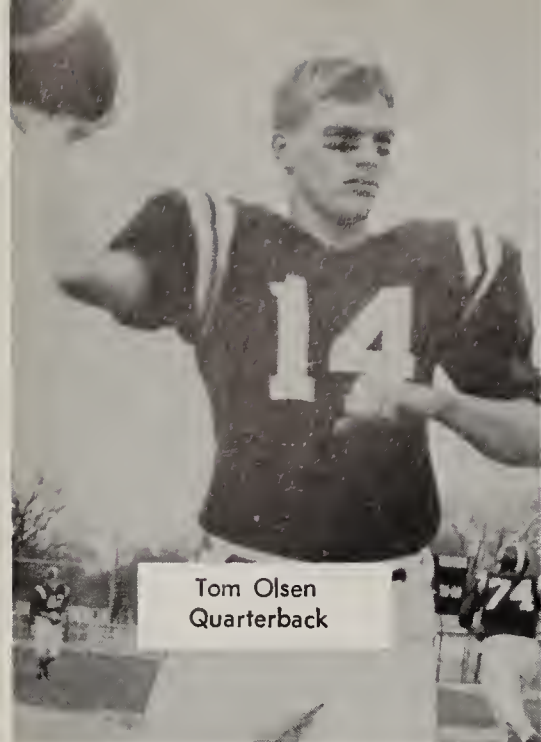

The Salina High Mustangs opened the season with a sound 34-0 win over Wichita Heights.

Quarterback Tom Olsen ducked across for the first two touchdowns, both from five yards out. Then he pitched an 11-yard pass to halfback Denny Culley for the third score. Culley then intercepted a Heights pass and ran 54 yards to score. Late in the game, junior guard Jack Low recovered a Heights fumble and raced 33 yards for the final tally.

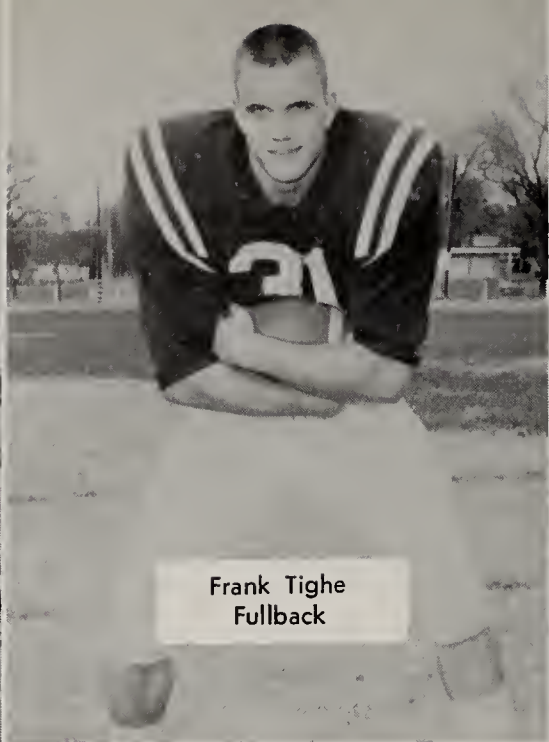

league play begins

The Mustangs moved in on the McPherson Bullpups and left with a 20-0 triumph.

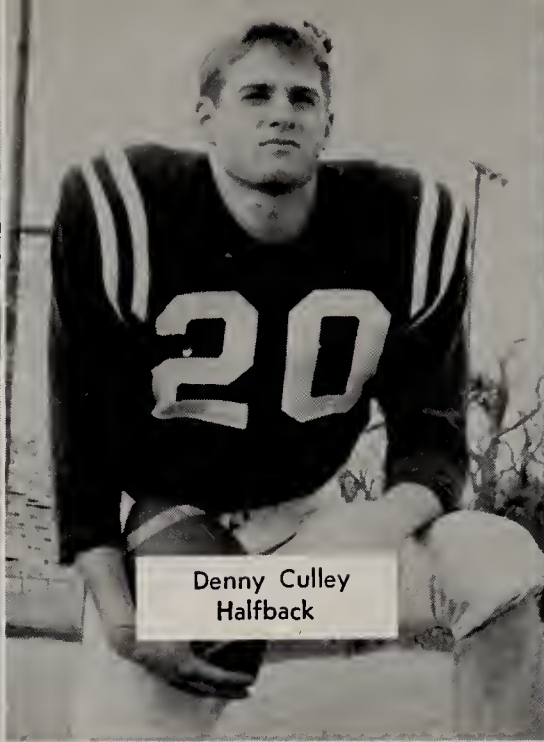

The first score came on a 32 yard touchdown pass from quarterback Tom Olsen to right-halfback Denny Culley. Frank Tighe then plunged 2 yards for the Mustangs' second score. The final tally came early in the third quarter when left-halfback Alan Fahring drove 1 yard for the touchdown.

capture important win

Salina defeated Clay Center 18-0 after 48 minutes of tough football.

The scoring started with Alan Fahring skirting right end, then darting back through the middle of the field for 27 yards and a touchdown. Salina struck again with a 11 yard touchdown by Fahring capping a 45 yard march. The remainder of the game turned out to be a defensive battle until Denny Culley broke for 20 yards and the final touchdown.

offensive team tough

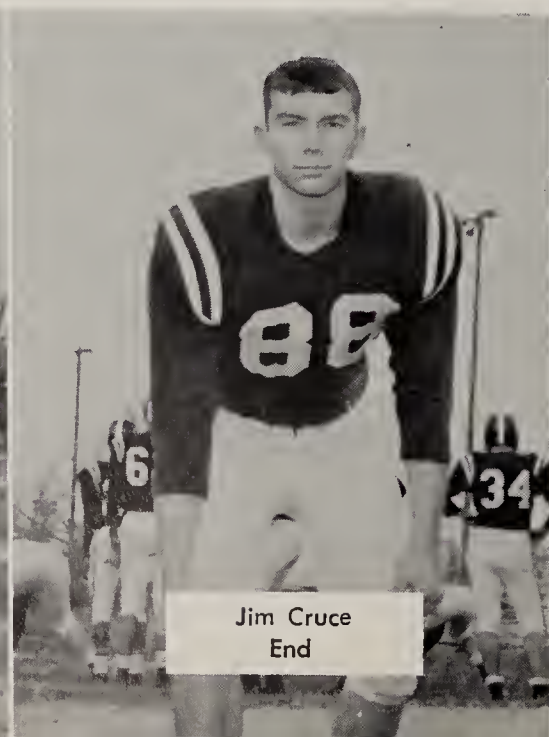

Salina displayed a tough offensive attack blanking the Abilene Cowboys 34-0. The win was the third straight in CKL action and fourth on the overall season for the Mustangs. However, the victory was a sober one with the loss of senior halfback Alan Fahring, who suffered a broken leg early in the fourth period.

Fahring had traveled 65 yards to open the second half with Salina's third touchdown of the night. Denny Culley, Salina's other "twin" halfback, raced 16 yards with the Mustangs' first touchdown and scampered 40 yards for the final tally. Fullback Frank Tighe's 18 yard scoring trip and quarterback Tom Olsen's perfect 56 yard touchdown pass accounted for the other scores.

26-20 fantastic finish

It is in the best tradition of the game of athletics to never give up until the final gun sounds. The score was tied 20-20 with seconds remaining in the game. Quarterback Tom Olsen faded back and the final gun barked as his pass sailed towards halfback, Denny Culley. Culley had cut down the middle towards the end zone, and his catch assured the Mustangs of a touchdown and a victory, thus ending a tremendous contest between two evenly matched teams.

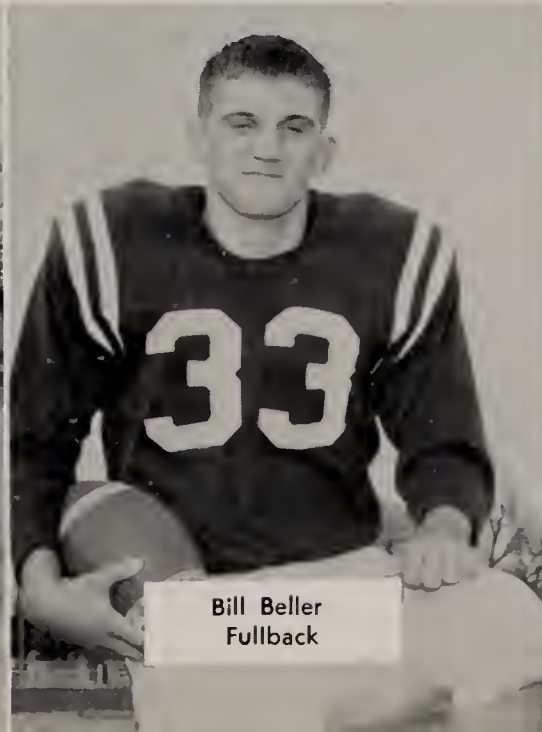

Fullback Frank Tighe scored two previous touchdowns on runs of two and four yards. Roger Prochaska, who replaced the injured Alan Fahring, rambled 29 yards for the other touchdown.

defensive effort great

The Mustangs traveled to Great Bend and spoiled the Panthers' Homecoming in a hard-fought defensive victory, 7-0. The Salina team played without the services of two starting backs, Denny Culley and Frank Tighe. Culley sustained a knee injury in the previous game and was to be out of action for two weeks, and Tighe received a head injury early in the first period and was unable to continue the rest of the game. The lone touchdown was scored in the third quarter by Roger Prochaska on a three yard run. He also kicked the extra point.

27th homecoming victory

The Salina Mustangs battled their way to a 14-3 win over the Emporia Spartans for their seventh straight win at the 27th annual Homecoming.

Bill Beller scored the first TD for the Mustangs on a three yard run in the second quarter. Tom Olsen, Salina quarterback, snagged a loose Emporia pass and returned it to the Salina 49 to set up the next score. After driving to the Emporia ten, Olsen flipped a ten yard TD pass to Bill Woods to wrap up the scoring.

The 'Stangs made one last drive in the fourth quarter but were held on the one yard line by a tough goal line stand by the Spartans.

Quarterback Tom Olsen (14) picks up some tough yards against the Clay Center Tigers. Olsen quarterbacked the Mustangs through all nine games.

Salina relied on its tough defense all year and this McPherson Bullpup ballcarrier is about to find out why.

single setback

With seven consecutive wins under their belts, Salina gridders journeyed to Junction City to battle for their first undefeated season and CKL championship since 1959.

But the Junction City Bluejays with the help of a pass interference call and brilliant defense blanked the Mustangs 6-0.

Junction City smashed over the Salina goal line from four yards out with 5:02 on the clock ending Salina's undefeated season.

revenge game regains crown

The Mustangs finished the 1964 season by defeating the Manhattan Indians 14-6. This gave the Mustangs a share of the CKL title with Junction City.

Salina's first touchdown was set up by Steve Wentz blocking an Indian punt. Eight plays later, Frank Tighe belted his way into pay dirt. Denny Culley opened the second quarter with a 37 yard gallop to set up the Mustangs' second score. Roger Prochaska smashed his way over the goal line from the one yard line for the final score.

Hustle, desire, and a never-die attitude were highlights of the Mustangs 1965 basketball season.

sophomores dominate 'stangs basketball team

The Salina High Mustangs came into the 1964-65 basketball season with a lack of height and experience. Besides the three senior starters—Denny Culley, Jim Cruce, and Steve Wentz—the team was made up predominantly of sophomores. Other starters were junior Bill Woods at guard and sophomore Thad Webster at the forward spot. Two regular subs were sophomore Charlie Keltner and junior Sam Joy.

It was a tough season for the 'Stangs in that nearly half of the teams they played were ranked in the top ten in the state. Coach Gene Stauffer stated, "I have never run into competition like this while at Salina High." The Salina High boys met teams like Wichita Southeast and Wichita North. Then other teams such as the Hutchinson Salthawks, the tallest team in the state, and last but not least the Wyandotte Bulldogs, ranked number one in the state.

In league play the team collided with teams such as the Manhattan Indians and the McPherson Bullpups. Both of these teams were among the top in Kansas. With these two teams dominating the Central Kansas League, the going was hard for the others. Salina ended the regular season with a five win, seven loss league record and clinched fourth place in the CKL. The Mustangs overall record was six wins and fourteen losses.

During the Abilene game, Coaches Pitts and Stauffer plan the strategy for another Mustang victory.

thinclads race in effort to redeem league title

Coach Mike Davis used the services of 13 returning lettermen this year in an effort to redeem the CKL title. The 110 boys out for track this year helped to make the squad considerably stronger.

Due to weather conditions, the boys worked out on their own until March 2. At that time organized practice began for the State-Indoor Meet held at Kansas State University on March 27.

Placing in the Regional last year, Bruce Zamrzla, Steve Wentz, and Jade Glazier should be the stronger men on the team.

With track season under way, but the weather still a little on the cold side, Kaye Pearce, Head Coach Mike Davis, and Jack Sharp, wish they had warm coats like Les Toburen, and Steve Williams.

matmen capture sixth straight league crown

Coach Bill Lundy captured his sixth consecutive CKL crown in addition to having his second undefeated league season.

The Salina matmen opened the season by handing both Russell and Wichita North defeats on the home mat. The grapplers then journeyed to Junction City where they put down the BlueJays in both the A and B matches.

The wrestlers managed third in the Ark City Tournament and then the Salina B whipped the Abilene A at home.

Taking to the road again, the matmen grappled to victories against two strong teams in the state, Wichita East and Hutchinson.

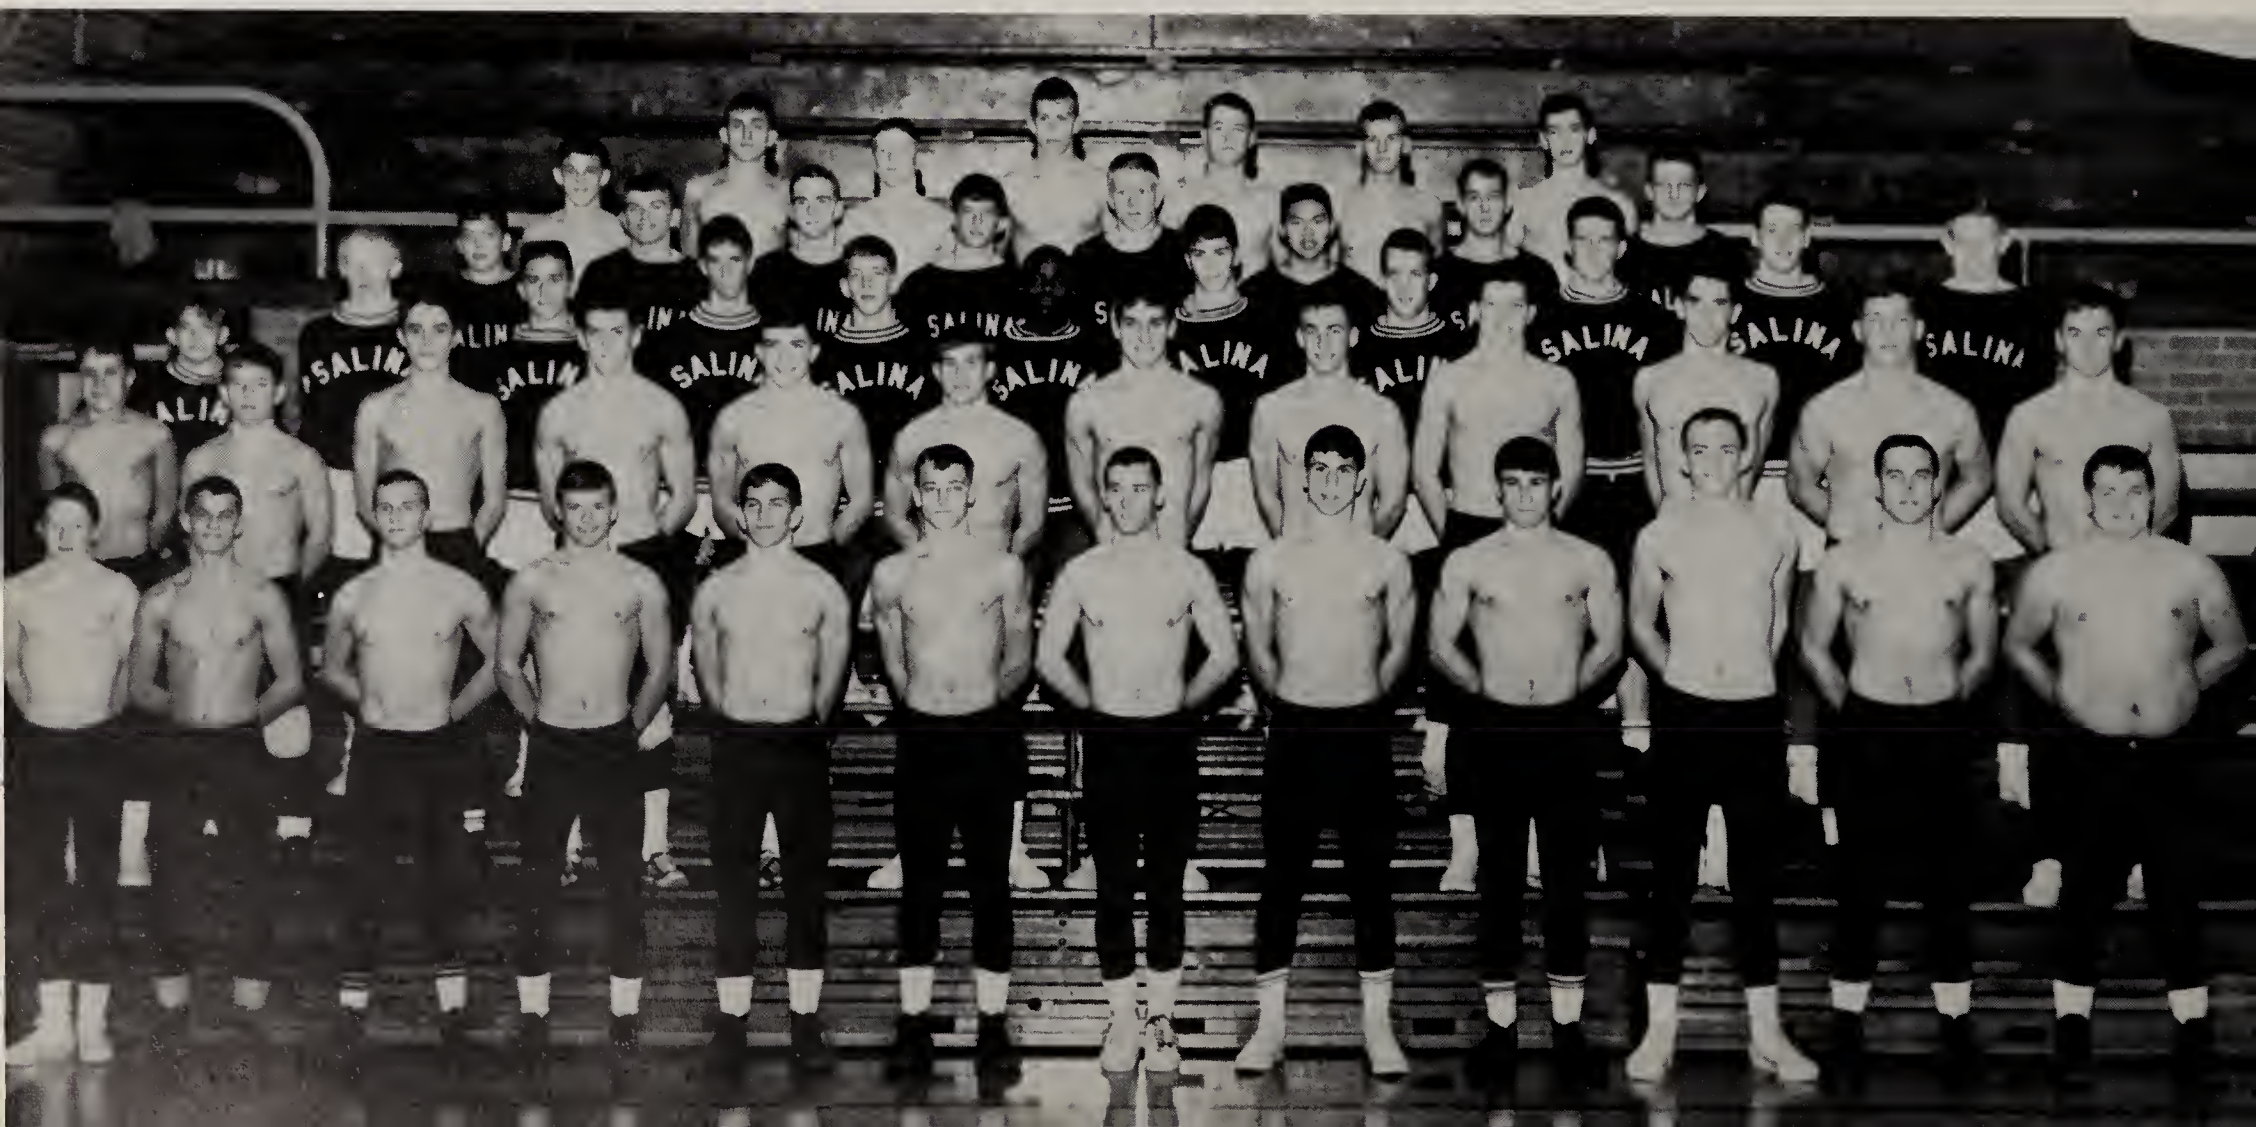

Returning home to wind up the season the Mustangs defeated Clay Center and Wichita Heights.

After capturing the CKL trophy, the grapplers met on home grounds the tough matmen of Kinsley and Russell and placed third in the District match.

Salina qualified eight men for the Regional Tournament at Russell, but fighting against rugged competition, the matmen for the first time in Coach Lundy's career at SHS, failed to send anyone to the state meet.

harriers win regional, place fifth in state meet

Although Salina's Cross Country Team missed the CKL through an unfortunate misunderstanding, they bounced back strongly to win the regional and placed fifth in the State meet.

Through receiving the wrong schedule Salina missed the CKL meet. This ended Salina's three year domination of the CKL championship.

Salina had no returning lettermen this year, but managed to place well in all meets. In the first meet at Wamego, Salina took second, then placed first at Junction City and at Hutchinson. Next Salina won fifth at Emporia and then returned home to take third at Sacred Heart. Missing the CKL inspired the harriers to win first in the Regional at Junction City and fifth in the State at Wamego.

Salina was paced by Jade Glazier and Bruce Zamrzla who placed highly in all meets. They were followed by Charlie Gadson, Terry Houk, Don Swartz, Dee Van Blaricon, Richard Farr, and Ed O'Hara. With six lettermen returning the future looks bright.

training program aids in athletic development

"All right MEN! This next exercise will develop your upper pectoral abricas, lower vertical dorsal and your horizontal table muscle." This was Coach Toburen instructing recruits for the school weight training program. There were about twenty boys in the program that worked out on the average of three times a week.

If lucky, at the end of the program they had as much muscle as their coach.

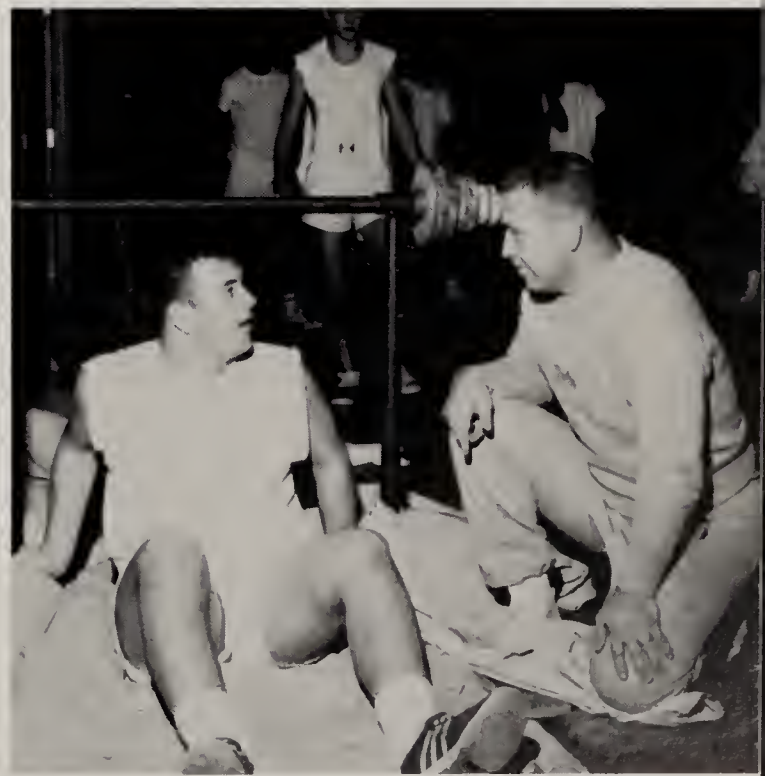

Bill Beller strains to achieve the ultimate in rope-climbing, the ceiling.

Randy Long sprints around the gym wearing a weight jacket which tones the leg muscles.

Football linecoach Les Toburen, who directs the weight program, explains the leg press to Gary Armour.

Eager Tom Poos, along with Jack Stevens, Bob Worley, and Doug Gray represent returning lettermen for the '65 season.

lone senior letterman sets pace on golf team

Salina High's golf team, coached by Emice Dyck, began practice for the 1965 season on March 15. Since the first tournament was held on March 19, the returning lettermen, Bob Worley, Doug Gray, Tom Poos, and Jack Stevens, began practice on their own as soon as weather permitted.

Worley, who won the Kansas State Junior Golf Tournament last summer, was the lone returning senior. Salina played Worley and Gray as the strong two-man team, with the remainder of the squad comprising the four-man team.

new coach and netmen bring new look to team

Under the supervision of a new coach, Jim Pitts, the Salina High tennis team took on a new look this year.

Returning lettermen were Mike Christenson, Dudley Bush, Kenny Long, Jim Cruce, and Mike Dalrymple. From performances turned in during the 1964 season, Bush and Christenson were expected to distinguish themselves in doubles competition, with Kenny Long taking over the singles.

With the much needed depth provided by the 24 netmen out for tennis, Coach Pitts predicted a fine chance to capture CKL honors.

cheerleaders stimulate infectious school spirit

"M-U-S-T-ANGS let's go!" were the by-words of the SHS cheerleaders. The vitality of the cheerleaders brought rousing spirit to the Maroon and White Mustangs. They appeared at all games to encourage the athletic teams to victory.

The seven girls, chosen in May of the preceding year, practiced continuously throughout the summer and the school year. As a stimulant to the team, Pep Club, and spectators, they created an infectious spirit and good sportsmanship.

Hours of practice have produced such precision jumps as these.

The "Mighty Lil' Mustangs" pose after a tough game, as "Leggy Larson" prepares to shoot again.

"I wish there were some way to get out of this mess," dreams an enrolling sophomore.

"Hurry up, will you, I want to see," says an impatient biology student.

sophomore year is one of sensation, confusion

That first step into SHS leaves sophomores with a new sensation. This is bound to be a big year, an exciting year.

All sophomores experience the confusion of high school during the first week—the crowded halls, new friends, new rules. From the dissection in biology to the choice in the lunch line, SHS life is new.

The night of the first game, Homecoming, clubs, plays, offices are all part of this memorable year. The sophomore year is an unforgettable year; it is the beginning at SHS.

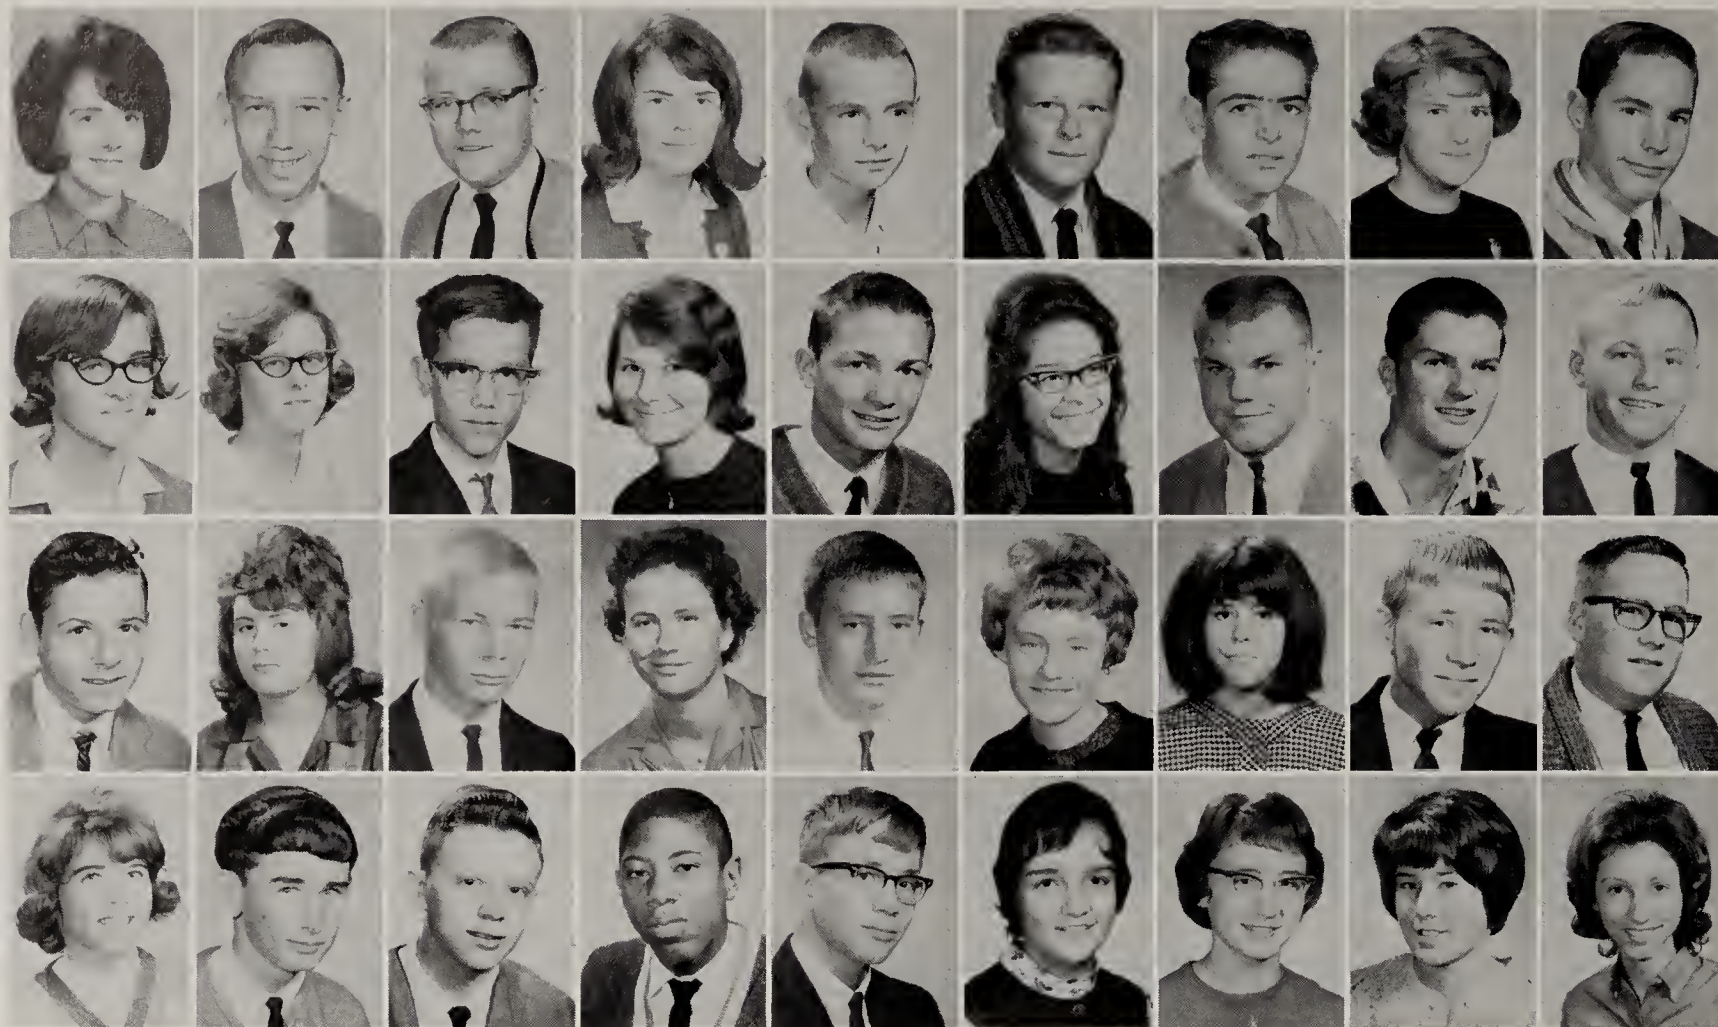

"It has to be this way or else!" emphasizes Page 1 Editor Fay Riley to Sheryl Richey and Ricky Nease.

To many sophomores the realistic experiences in the Drive-o-Trainer is a new method of training. Upon receiving the driving permit, responsibility is placed on each individual's shoulders.

half-way mark reached by progressive juniors

As juniors journeyed the middle road, they encountered new experiences. They are now half-way between sophomores and seniors.

From the opening night of their junior play—the choosing of class rings—to the long awaited prom night, the junior year is a year of realization. Through the opportunities of American Field Service to Girls' and Boys' State—the realization of responsibility develops.

The juniors indeed look in both directions at once—backward and forward . . .

A highlight of the junior year was the Homecoming dance; here an anxious crowd awaits Mary Ellen Evans, this year's Homecoming Queen.

"You've got to have good imagination," thinks Roger Prochaska as he adds a finishing touch to his sketch.

The SHS marching band provided entertainment at halftime during football season.

Offering advice is one of the many jobs which counselor William Smith does in a school day.

memorable events fill final high school year

To many a senior, this year has gone too fast. For many it will be the last time to see friends and classmates. However, the year was not without memorable events.

As the seasons rolled by, each brought special events.

Homecoming added a special note to the fall season. The class presented its senior play, "The Great Sebastians." To end the fall season with a musical air, "My Fair Lady" was given as this year's musical.

With winter came basketball games and semester exams.

Time flew as spring came with the ending of high school. A dramatic moment was shared by all seniors as graduation ceremonies were presented.

This is not the end, but the beginning of a new and longer life.

"Be careful, Reese!" warns Mike Dalrymple, "we only need ten milliliters of sodium iodide."

return to the past, but to progress to the future.

Working together on their last class production, cast members of the Senior play clown just before the curtain rises. The emotional strain doesn't seem to bother them as Kenvv Lona entertains them with a joke.

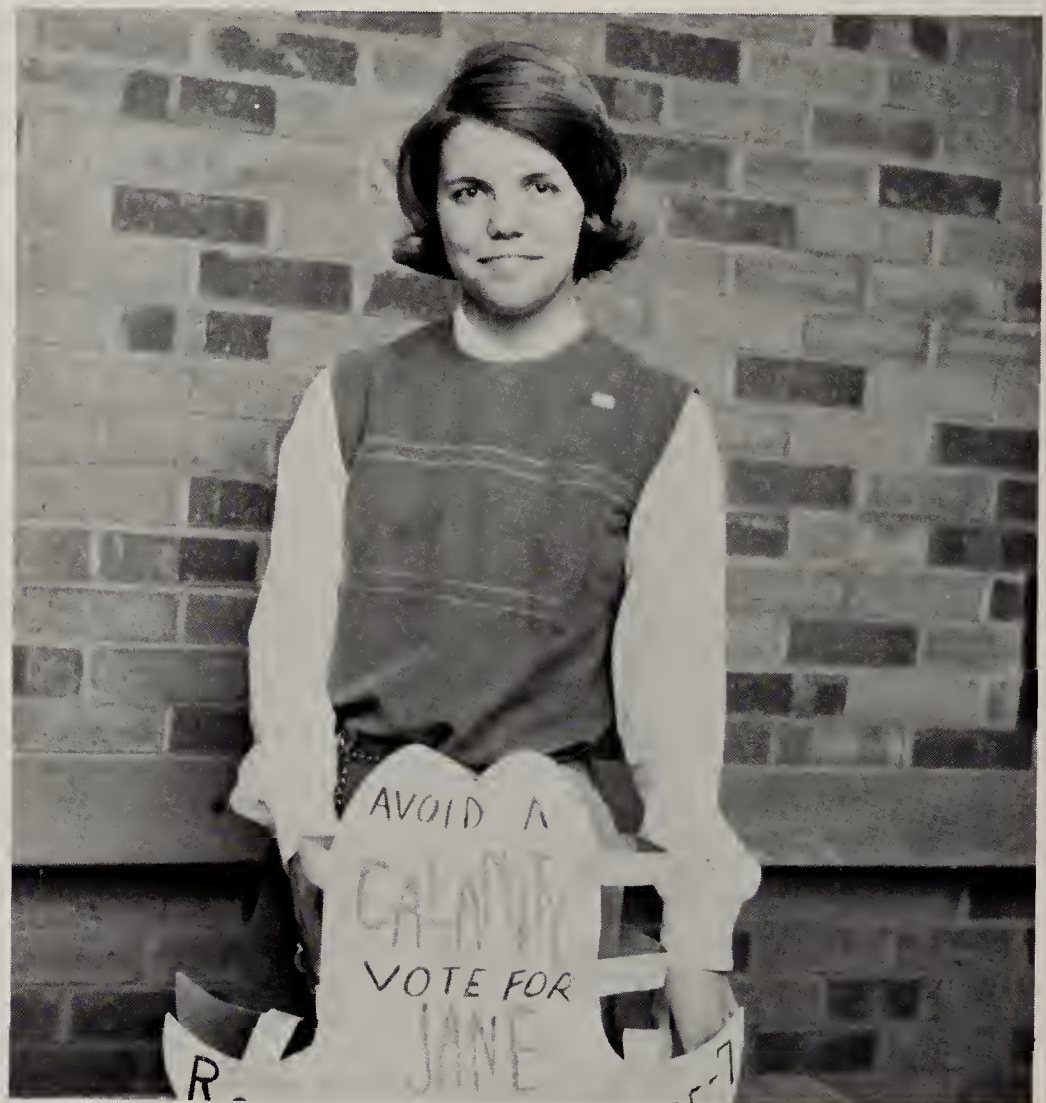

student delegation helps set up mock government

Setting up mock state, county and local governments in order to learn how they run was the main function of both Girls' and Boys' State. This was done by electing officials to organize a mock state with a legislature and county and local governments.

"I learned a great deal about state, county and local governments that will serve me in good stead," commented Jane Roth, Girls' State delegate. Jane was one of 400 Kansas girls who attended a week long session held at the University of Kansas.

Delegates to Boys' State, Milt Van Gundy, Jim Nelson, Mike Stano, Ted Warner, Monty Lightner, Robert Cooley, Bruce Zamrzla, Frank Tighe, and Dave Swenson came home with a refreshed attitude toward government organization and duties. Sponsored by the American Legion, Boys' State was also held at the University of Kansas.

"Calamity" Jane Roth displays one of her wearable campaign posters. Wearing this hat, Jane received both attention and votes.

foreign exchange system opens doors to world

"Life in Salina is not so terribly different; it's just the little things like informality," stated Margie Codd, Salina's first AFS student from Port Elizabeth, South Africa. Coming from a girls' school which taught the conventional British subjects, she likes the wide range in curriculum in Salina's co-educational system. Having graduated from high school in December 1963, she will start her second semester in college when she returns home.

"The AFS works through family relationships; it's not particularly interested in generalities or being a tourist guide," emphasized Betty Hatton, 1964 summer AFS student.

Betty brought a bit of Germany back with her on her slides to be shown to many.

Betty enjoys the warm hospitality of the Fritz Fooker family in Kassel, Germany.

Showing pictures of South Africa, AFS student, Margie Codd, brought a bit of life into the home of the S. O. Moberly family.

Though thousands of miles separate her from home and parents, Margie finds a welcome home in Salina.

outstanding seniors win scholarships, awards

The 1965 school year was highlighted by many award winning students.

Diane Coffey was selected as the 1965 DAR good citizen. She was chosen for this high honor by the senior girls and the Daughters of American Revolution society. The qualifications for this award are dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism.

General Mills selected Kathy Goodall as Betty Crocker Homemaker of the year. She was selected after entering the Betty Crocker Contest along with 177 girls. For scoring the highest on the test, Kathy received a pin and was given the opportunity to participate in the state competition.

Salina High School had eight National Merit semi-finalists. Linda Hans, Linda Keeler, Candy Moberly, Betty Stratmann, Jane Roth, Steve Sebree, Charlie Neywick, and Doug Hamilton were also selected as the Merit finalists. Jane, Linda K., Candy, and Betty will also be included in the honors program. Doug Hamilton will attend Kansas University on a Summerfield scholarship and Linda Hans on a Watkins Scholarship.

Bob Wehling, along with Linda Keeler, Ron Burt, John Cummings, and Sally Harper, received Putnam scholarships from Kansas State University.

Diane Coffey, DAR representative, smiles while thinking of her American heritage.

Kathy Goodall, Betty Crocker Homemaker of the year, prepares a nice, juicy steak during class.

"So what if you have a 1965, 2+2 Mustang. We have a 1924 "Mustang," smirks Milt and Claudia.

"OK, Mr. Evans, You're ON!" jokes Milt as he turns on the backstage lights for an assembly.

President Claudia introduces the program for one of the bi-monthly meetings of Y-Teens.

"Wow, Back Buck . . ." chants Milt while strumming on his guitar.

Claudia proves the saying, "Cute as a bear and twice as sweet."

"Nyah, ah, ah! Did you say it was players choice?" snickers Milt to Claudia.

"Grit your teeth and bear it! I'm cold, too." exclaims Judy to Ron.

"Janet, quit holding on, that's not fair!" yells Steve.

"OK, Judy, let's get this thing over with", moans Ron as they put the books away from the StuCo Book Fair.

representative boy, girl take on responsibilities

The honor of representing Salina High School is not a seasonal job, but a year-round responsibility.

Claudia Garrett and Milt VanGundy were elected Salina High's 1965 Representative Boy and Girl. The pair was chosen on the basis of achievement, dependability, cooperation, and leadership.

Claudia, active in school affairs, was president of Y-Teens, a member of FHA and secretary of FTA.

Milt was president of Dramatics club, assistant director of the Senior Play and a member of Madrigal.

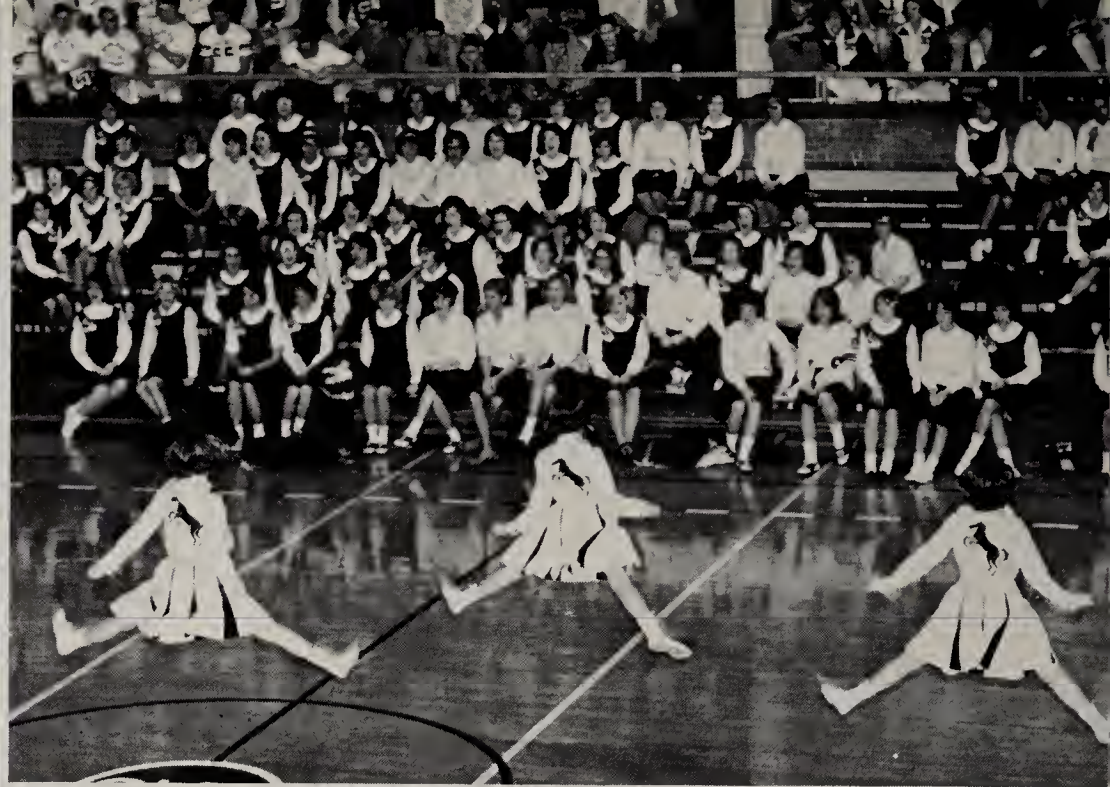

Honorary representatives were Judy Etherington, Janet Spangler, Ron Burt and Steve Wentz.

Steve and Janet seem to be a little bit confused on which way they are going.

Salina High, our Alma Mater,
We will cherish thee
Through the many years that follow
To eternity.

For our colors maroon and white
May our banners fly
Over unforgotten memories
Of Salina High.

Down the road of life we wander
You will always be
Salina High our Alma Mater,
Hail, all hail to thee!

editor's letter

Dear Friends—

Without the cooperation and encouragement of certain people, this book surely would not be. Although there are many to thank, I want to recognize some of those who put forth an extra effort to make this 1965 TRAIL a better book.

Mr. "Mac", you were marvelous! You gave over and beyond what is expected of the average advisor, and I really appreciate it more than I can say. You were great to help me over all those little rough spots I encountered along the way.

Mrs. Miller, you were a lifesaver—over and over and over again! Without your help we never could have done it.

Thank you Taylor Publishing Company, Ed Houlihan and V. B. Rose for all the extra pains you took to make this, our first year with Taylor, a happy one. V.B., all your talents make you our very favorite representative!

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cloud and Dr. and Mrs. D. L. Marchbanks, we appreciate the use of your lovely homes. And another bunch of roses to Lloyd E. Webb at A to Z Rentals for the use of the motor-scooters and to S. Dean Evans for that beautiful 1920 Model T.

Fay Riley, you have been my right hand! Without your spark and drive, we could have never done this together. Larry Berg, you are a financial wizard, and how you did it is beyond me. Pam Mercer, thank you for painting those neat endsheets! Virginia Fink, you gave new life to what is usually a humdrum section. Mary Mar Cloud, you have more original ideas and better cutlines than anyone. Jo Abbott, your energy and organization are unbeatable!

Alan Fahring, the sports section has the touch only a true athlete could give it. It's choice! Mike Malone and Denny Culley, your every little bit helped to make a great section. Steve Lorson, all those sports pictures were really good. Linda Roscoe and Pat Lafferty, the way you two worked together is amazing. Carolyn (Witherspoon) Liven-good, you tried your best and did a great job laying out those ads! Linda Ketron, thank you for the time you spent at such a boring job! Mike Miller, Jim Vishnefske, and Jim Sharp, you were all wonderful to sell those ads and be our general handy men.

In parting, I can only say, TRAIL staff you've been great!

Sincerely,

Kathy McLeod
